Preface

1 An introduction to the coastal geomorphology of Great Britain

Introduction

Organization of this volume

Coastal research in Britain

The geological background

The coastal marine environment: tides, waves, surges and currents

Coastal sediment supply and sediments cells

Sea-level history

Coastal management and coastal engineering

Further reading

GCR site selection guidelines

Anthropogenic influences and the GCR

Legal protection of the GCR sites

GCR site selection in conclusion

2 The geomorphology of the coastal cliffs of Great Britain

Introduction

Inland and coastal cliffs

Coastal slope processes

Processes of marine erosion of cliffs and shore platforms

The form of coastal cliffs

Geological controls on cliff form

Characteristic medium-scale features of cliffs

Influence of inland topography on cliff form

Shore platforms

Evidence of inheritance

Sea cliffs as biological SSSIs and Special Areas of Conservation (SACs)

3 Hard-rock cliffs — GCR site reports

Introduction

5 Beaches, spits, barriers and dunes — an introduction

Introduction

Provenance of beach sediments

Coastal sediment movements

Beach plan

Beach profiles

Beach states

Bars and troughs

Lateral grading

Prograding beaches

Beach ridges

Spits, tombolos and cusped forelands

Coastal barriers

Coastal dunes

6 Causes of beach and dune erosion 6 Gravel and 'shingle' beaches — GCR site reports

Introduction

Westward Ho! Cobble Beach, Devon

Loe Bar, Cornwall

Slapton Sands and Hallsands, Devon
